Our story

The Post Office is an essential part of the UK's national infrastructure. Over recent years we have modernised our branches, increased accessibility and invested in essential infrastructure so that we stand ready to provide current and future generations with Post Office services.

At the same time, our commercial performance has improved, allowing us to reduce our dependence on the taxpayer.

Our ambition is to become a self-sustaining business, maintaining – even growing – our branch network.

The prize is a flourishing network of retail hubs, providing Post Office and banking services in communities across the UK.

Around 11,600 Post Office branches.

97% of Post Office branches are run by retail businesses on an agency basis.

7,500 branches modernised, providing 200,000 extra opening hours each week.

4,000 branches open on a Sunday.

17 million customers visit our branches every week.

99% of the population lives within three miles of a Post Office branch.

We are the only retailer in 3,000 communities.

99% of UK bank customers can carry out banking transactions at their local Post Office branch – essential in communities where banks have closed.
